Weill Cornell Medicine

PROVIDING WORLD-CLASS CARE WITH NewYork-Presbyterian

Position: Clinical Psychologist for Outpatient Position

Location: NewYork-Presbyterian Westchester Behavioral Health, 21 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains, NY 10605

Position Overview: Weill Cornell Medicine's Department of Psychiatry is seeking a psychologist for a full-time faculty position based in the child and adolescent psychiatry ambulatory program of NewYork-Presbyterian Westchester Behavioral Health. The successful candidate will work collaboratively within a multidisciplinary team to provide comprehensive psychological care, including assessments and individual and group psychotherapy. Additional responsibilities include supporting the departmental missions in (1) Expanding access to care, (2) Utilizing Data to Drive Clinical Decision-Making, (3) Embedding Research Throughout Clinical Services. This will involve developing and implementing time-limited, evidence-based treatment protocols and/or research for assessment, group therapy, and individual therapy, working with research, innovation, and clinical teams, and supervising psychology trainees.

Position Responsibilities:

- Collaborates with patients and a multidisciplinary treatment team to develop and implement individualized treatment plans focused on evidence-based interventions.
- Provides evidence-based individual and group psychotherapeutic interventions that are brief and/or time-limited.
- Performs psychological evaluations to assess patients' mental health treatment needs.
- Helps lead the development and evaluation of individual and group psychotherapeutic interventions, including through data collection and research/scholarly work
- Contributes to the clinical supervision and teaching of psychology trainees rotating through the ambulatory program, in coordination with psychology education leadership.
- Participates in programmatic, Department, and institutional meetings as needed.
- Communicates with patients' other health care providers for coordination of care.
- Maintains accurate and up-to-date medical records in compliance with best practices, hospital polices, regulatory requirements and appropriate insurance billing practices.
- Engages in continuous professional development, staying up to date on advancements in psychology.
- Demonstrates a commitment to working with diverse populations.
- Supports the development of clinical programming focused on increasing access to care, utilizing data to drive clinical decision making, embedding research throughout clincal services, and reducing symptomatology in patients with varied clinical and social backgrounds.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must have a doctoral degree in clinical Psychology from an APA-accredited program and should possess or be eligible for NY state licensure. Start date is flexible with earliest start date July 1, 2027. Candidates must also be academically oriented, excellent communication and organizational skills; strong work ethic; proactive and highly collaborative.

Application deadline: December 1, 2026 and then until the position is filled.

Start Date: July 1, 2027 (contingent upon 4-month credentialing process)

Salary: Minimum/Maximum salary is $143,840.

Weill Cornell Medicine provides the above salary range in compliance with the New York City law on Salary Transparency in Job Advertisements. The salary range listed is for full-time employment not including bonuses, clinical incentive compensation, or benefits. The above salary range for New York City based roles represents WCM's good faith and reasonable estimate of possible compensation at the time of posting.

Application Instructions:
Please email CV and letter of professional interest to both: Jennifer Walsh, Chief Administrative Officer, Psychiatry, Weill Cornell Medicine at jaw2015@med.cornell.edu.

Cornell is an equal opportunity employer. For more information, visit hr.cornell.edu/eeo.