

Full-Time Psychologist Specializing in Autism Spectrum Disorders

Weill Cornell Medical College's Department of Psychiatry in conjunction with New York-Presbyterian Hospital is seeking a full-time Clinical Psychologist to join our faculty for a position based at the Center for Autism and the Developing Brain (CADB) at the New York-Presbyterian Hospital/Westchester Division in White Plains, New York. The individual will be expected to play an integral role in diagnostic assessment and implementation of interventions for children and adolescents diagnosed or suspected of having an Autism Spectrum Disorder. As part of the core training mission of the Department of Psychiatry, the psychologist will supervise trainees, including postdoctoral psychology fellows, and medical residents. The psychologist will be expected to collaborate with members of the treatment team to run group based intervention for children, adolescents, adults and their families. They will also conduct trainings related to assessment measures and treatment procedures developed and/or used by staff at CADB. The ideal candidate for this position will have a strong background in assessment of Autism Spectrum Disorders, including the use of the ADOS and ADI-R, and the application of evidenced-based intervention approaches with individuals and families.

Minimum requirements: Applicants must have a doctoral degree in Clinical Psychology from an APA-accredited program and possess or be eligible for NY state licensure. Academic rank will be commensurate with experience.

Start Date: Flexible with earliest start date August 1, 2017.

Founded in 1898, and affiliated with what is now New York-Presbyterian Hospital (NYPH) since 1927, Weill Cornell Medical College (WCMC) is among the top-ranked clinical and research centers in the country. Weill Cornell Psychiatry is one of the largest, most prestigious departments in the country, with a long, distinguished history of providing outstanding leadership in clinical care, training, and research in all areas of psychiatric disorders. Our programs at Payne Whitney Manhattan and New York-Presbyterian-Hospital's Westchester Division are renowned for the range and quality of our inpatient and outpatient specialty programs and general psychiatric services. The Westchester Division is a 260-bed facility located in White Plains New York has been named a "Planetree Designated Patient-Centered Hospital" – the first behavioral health hospital in the U.S. and one of only 16 hospitals worldwide to receive this distinction. We are consistently recognized as one of the nation's best psychiatric hospitals – ranked first in New York and among the top in the nation by U.S. News and World Report. Weill Cornell Medical College is an equal opportunity, affirmative action educator and employer.

Interested candidates are invited to e-mail a CV and statement of professional interest to:

Jennifer Walsh
Senior Administrator
Weill Cornell Medical College
Department of Psychiatry

jaw2015@med.cornell.edu