

Weill Cornell Medicine

Psychiatry

Weill Cornell Medicine's (WCM) Department of Psychiatry is seeking an accomplished and visionary leader to serve as Vice Chair for Consultation Liaison Psychiatry and Director of the Division of Consultation Liaison services at NewYork-Presbyterian (NYP). NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medicine's Psychiatry department is distinguished by its outstanding clinical, education, and research programs.

The selected candidate will provide leadership and administration of the evolving inpatient and outpatient consultation liaison services at NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center, one of New York's premier academic medical centers with additional responsibilities across three affiliated community hospitals within the NewYork-Presbyterian's enterprise. The successful candidate will be responsible for developing and implementing high quality service standards and service delivery models using innovative technologies and approaches including telehealth and integrative care models. In addition, the role entails providing psychiatric consultations to patients on medical and surgical units; providing mentorship of junior faculty and making meaningful contributions to departmental career development initiatives and programs; teaching and supervising medical students, residents, fellows; developing a strategy for expanding existing training programs; developing programs that encourage and support clinical investigation; and, engaging in academic activities and scholarship. We seek candidates who embrace and reflect diversity in the broadest sense.

Minimum Qualifications: Board certified in Psychiatry and Consultation Liaison Psychiatry. Demonstrated success as an academic leader. Academic rank will be commensurate with experience. Expectation is that candidate should be eligible for appointment at the rank of Associate Professor of Professor. Must either possess or be eligible for New York State license.
